Industry engagement opportunities

Navitas Professional offers exciting opportunities for Australian and international businesses to engage with the next generation of leaders through a range of Work Integrated Learning (WIL) activities and career-readiness programs.

With a national focus on WIL across Australia, there is an increasing demand for industry participation and engagement with both current students and recent graduates.

Navitas Professional is a leading provider in this space, offering career-readiness services through:

- Partnerships with national and international higher education providers.
- A broad range of programs; Professional Year Program, Marketing Career Advancement Program, Career Experience Program and Professional Internship Program.
- Bespoke training package services for independent agents or organisations.
- Facilitating industry engagement across our international network of education providers, government bodies, learners and industry.

Internships

Solve skills shortages, give back to the community and inject your business with technology and inspiration from current and recently graduated skilled interns.

Guest speaking opportunities

Put your company in front of the next generation of high achievers.

Networking events and activities

Let Navitas Professional help you fulfil your professional development and networking aspirations. With a wide network of industry connections, and Association affiliations, there are multiple opportunities for engagement with other industry professionals or targeted connections.

Projects

Onsite hosting of a small group of aspiring young leaders for Work Integrated Learning (WIL) projects or experiences – such as themed boardroom luncheons, site visits or presentations.

Virtual internships

Virtual Internships are the next evolution of work placements. Online work placements simulate the work graduates undertake in leading companies but provide flexibility to students. The Virtual Internship is an incredible experience to gain insights into one's career-readiness in a chosen career path. This program allows our industry partners the opportunity to feature their workplace and brand to our future leaders.

Other initiatives

Navitas Professional is constantly looking for new ways to facilitate industry engagement with our future leaders. We liaise regularly with industry members and welcome feedback to develop new initiatives and discuss strategic objectives which Navitas Professional can help your business deliver on.

How interns benefit your business

Fresh ideas: recent graduates bring new concepts and ideas to your organisation, giving you a competitive edge. It also opens up the opportunity to potentially address stalled projects with new initiatives.

Professional development: engage existing staff in mentoring to identify future managers within your organisation.

Contributing to the next generation of leaders: giving young talent an opportunity to enhance their career readiness.

Global awareness: your staff can broaden their horizons, gain insights into different cultures and exposure to international business opportunities and diversification initiatives.

Corporate social responsibility: improve your public image by meeting Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) and long term sustainability objectives.

Talent scouting: identify future talent for potential employment.
